“(Law of 3 May 1994) However, the aforementioned articles shall not apply to the affiliated rural banks referred to in Article 12 of the aforementioned law. In that case, without prejudice to the application of this law to the central body, the whole constituted by the central body and its affiliated institutions must be subject of consolidated accounts including a management report which shall be drawn up, audited and published in accordance with this law.

“(Law of 16 March 2006) Articles 83 to “106a”¹, 107(1), (6), (7), (9), (10), (13) and (14), 108(2), 109 and 112a shall not apply to credit institutions whose securities are admitted to trading on the regulated market of a Member State within the meaning Article 4(1), point (14) of Directive 2004/39/EC of the European

¹ Law of 29 May 2009

(2) “(Law of 16 March 2006) Articles 113, 114 and 118 shall apply:”

Part II: Annual accounts

Chapter 1 – General Provisions

Art. 2.

(1) The annual accounts shall comprise the balance sheet, the profit and loss account and the notes to the accounts. These documents shall constitute a composite whole.

“(Law of 16 March 2006) Credit institutions may include other statements in the annual accounts in addition to the documents referred to in the first subparagraph.”

(2) The annual accounts shall be drawn up clearly and in accordance with the provisions of this law.

(3) The annual accounts shall give a true and fair view of the company's assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss.

(4) Where the application of the provisions of this law would not be sufficient to give a true and fair view within the meaning of paragraph (3), additional information must be given.

(5) Where in exceptional cases the application of a provision of this law is incompatible with the obligation laid down in paragraph (3), that provision must be departed from in order to give a true and fair view within the meaning of paragraph (3). Any such departure must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts together with an explanation of the reasons for it and a statement of its effect on the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss.
Chapter 2 – General provisions concerning the balance sheet and the profit and loss account

Art. 3. The layout of the balance sheet and of the profit and loss account, particularly as regards the form adopted for their presentation, may not be changed from one financial year to the next. Departures from this principle shall be permitted in exceptional cases. Any such departure must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts together with an explanation of the reasons therefor.

   (b) such combination makes for greater clarity, provided that the items so combined are dealt with separately in the notes to the accounts. Combinations under (a) and (b) may only be made with the prior consent of the executive board of the “CSSF”.

(3) In respect of each balance sheet and profit and loss account item the figure relating to the corresponding item for the preceding financial year must be shown. Non-comparability of the figures from year to year and any adjustment of the figures for the preceding financial year, made to ensure such comparability, must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts, with relevant comments.

(4) Save where there is a corresponding item for the preceding financial year within the meaning of paragraph (3), a balance sheet or profit and loss account item for which there is no amount shall not be shown.

“(Law of 16 March 2006)

(5) The presentation of amounts within items in the profit and loss account and balance sheet shall have regard to the substance of the reported transaction or arrangement.”

“(Law of 16 March 2006)

Art. 7a. Credit institutions may replace the presentation of balance sheet items provided for in Article 7 by the presentation of those items classified by their nature and in order of their relative liquidity provided that the information given is at least equivalent to that otherwise required by Article 7.”

Art. 8.
(1) Assets shall be shown under the relevant balance sheet items even where the credit institution drawing up the balance sheet has pledged them as security for its own liabilities or for those of third parties or has otherwise assigned them as security to third parties.
(2) A credit institution shall not include in its balance sheet assets pledged or otherwise assigned to it as security unless such assets are in the form of cash in the hands of that credit institution.

Art. 9.
(1) Where a loan has been granted by a syndicate consisting of a number of lenders, the credit institution concerned shall disclose only that part of the total loan which it has itself funded.
(2) If in the case of a syndicated loan as described in paragraph (1) the amount of funds guaranteed by a credit institution exceeds the amount which it has made available, any additional guarantee portion shall be shown as a contingent liability (in Off-balance sheet item 1, second indent).

Art. 10. Only those amounts which can at any time be withdrawn without notice or for which a maturity or period of notice of 24 hours or one working day has been agreed shall be regarded as repayable on demand.

Art. 11.
(1) Sale and repurchase transactions shall mean transactions which involve the transfer by a credit institution or customer (the “transferor”) to another credit institution or customer (the “transferee”) of assets, for example, bills, debts or transferable securities, subject to an agreement that the same assets will subsequently be transferred back to the transferor at a specified price.
(2) If the transferee undertakes to return the assets on a date specified or to be specified by the transferor, the transaction in question shall be deemed to be a genuine sale and repurchase transaction.
(3) If, however, the transferee is merely entitled to return the assets at the purchase price or for a different amount agreed in advance on a date specified or to be specified, the transaction in question shall be deemed to be a sale with an option to repurchase.
(4) The following accounting method shall be used for such transactions:
(a) In the case of transactions based on a genuine sale and repurchase transaction, the asset items transferred shall continue to appear in the transferor’s balance sheet; the purchase price received by the transferor shall be shown as an amount owed to the transferee. In addition, the value of the assets transferred shall be disclosed in a note to the transferor’s accounts. The transferee shall not be entitled to show the assets transferred in his balance sheet; the purchase price paid by the transferee shall be shown as an amount owed by the transferor.
(b) In the case of transactions considered as a sale with an option to repurchase, however, the transferor shall not be entitled to show in his balance sheet the assets transferred; those items shall be shown as assets in the transferee’s balance sheet. The transferor shall enter under Off-balance sheet item 2 an amount equal to the price agreed in the event of repurchase.
(5) No forward exchange transactions, options, transactions involving the issue of debt securities with a commitment to repurchase all or part of the issue before maturity of any similar transactions shall be regarded as sale and repurchase transactions within the meaning of this Article.

Taxes on the profit or loss on ordinary activities and taxes on the extraordinary profit or loss may be shown in total as one item in the profit and loss account before “Other taxes not shown under the above items”. The title of this new item shall be “Tax on ordinary and extraordinary profit or loss”. In such cases, the items “Profit or loss on ordinary activities after tax” and “Extraordinary profit, after tax” are deleted.

Where this derogation is applied, the credit institutions must disclose in the notes to the accounts the extent to which the taxes on the profit or loss affect the profit or loss on ordinary activities and the extraordinary profit or loss.
Chapter 7 – Valuation rules

Art. 51.
(1) The valuation of the items shown in the annual accounts shall be done in accordance with the following general principles:
   (a) the company must be presumed to be carrying on its business as a going concern;
   (b) the methods of valuation must be applied consistently from one financial year to another;

      (aa) only profits made at the balance sheet date may be included,
      “(Law of 16 March 2006)
      (bb) account must be taken of all liabilities arising in the course of the financial year concerned or of a previous one, even if such liabilities become apparent only between the date of the balance sheet and the date on which it is drawn up;”
      (cc) account must be taken of all depreciation, whether the result of the financial year is a loss or a profit;
   (d) account must be taken of income and charges relating to the financial year, irrespective of the date of receipt or payment of such income or charges;
   (e) the components of asset and liability items must be valued separately;
   (f) the opening balance sheet for each financial year must correspond to the closing balance sheet for the preceding financial year.
   “(Law of 16 March 2006)
   (1)a. In addition to the amounts recorded pursuant to Article 51(1), point (c)(bb), credit institutions may take into account all foreseeable liabilities and potential losses arising in the course of the financial year concerned or of a previous one, even if such liabilities or losses become apparent only between the date of the balance sheet and the date on which it is drawn up.”
(2) Departures from these general principles shall be permitted in exceptional cases. Any such departures must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts and the reasons for them given together with an assessment of their effect on the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss.

Art. 52.
The items shown in the annual accounts shall be valued in accordance with Articles 54 to 64, which are based on the principle of purchase price or production cost.

Art. 53.
By way of derogation Article 52, a Grand-Ducal Regulation may authorise or impose the following measures for all credit institutions:
   (a) valuation by the replacement value method for tangible fixed assets with limited useful economic lives and for stocks;
   (b) valuation by methods other than that provided for in (a) which are designed to take account of inflation for the items shown in annual accounts, including equity;
   “(Law of 16 March 2006)
   (c) revaluation of fixed assets.”
The regulation providing for the valuation methods referred to in (a), (b) or (c) shall determine their content, limits and implementing rules in accordance with the provisions of Article 33 of Directive 78/660/EEC of 25 July 1978.

Art. 54.
(1) (a) Formation expenses must be written off within a maximum period of five years.
   (b) Insofar as formation expenses have not been completely written off, no distribution of profits shall take place unless the amount of the reserves available for distribution and profits brought forward is at least equal to that of the expenses not written off.
(2) The amounts entered under "Formation expenses" must be explained in the notes to the accounts.
(3) Costs which relate to the creation or extension of an undertaking, a part of an undertaking or a business segment, as opposed to costs arising from routine administration, may be shown under assets as formation expenses.

Art. 55.

   (c) The other items included in the assets where they are intended for use on a continuing basis in the normal course of the undertaking’s activity.

(2) (a) Fixed assets as specified above must be valued at purchase price or production cost, without prejudice to (b), (c), (d) and (e).
   (b) The purchase price or production cost of fixed assets with limited useful economic lives must be reduced by value adjustments calculated to write off the value of such assets systematically over their useful economic lives.
   (c) (aa) Value adjustments may be made in respect of financial fixed assets, so that they are valued at the lower figure to be attributed to them at the balance sheet date.
       (bb) Value adjustments must be made in respect of fixed assets, whether their useful economic lives are limited or not, so that they are valued at the lower figure to be attributed to them at the balance sheet date if it is expected that the reduction in their value will be permanent.
       (cc) Valuation at the lower of the values provided for in (aa) and (bb) may not be continued if the reasons for which the value adjustments were made have ceased to apply.
   (d) Where the purchase price of debt securities and other fixed-income securities which are held as financial fixed assets exceeds the amount repayable at maturity, the amount of the difference must be charged to the profit and loss account, under item “Interest payable and similar charges” (item 2 – vertical layout; item A1 – horizontal layout). However, it shall also be permissible for the amount of the difference to be written off in instalments. This difference, which shall be the cumulated amortisation value since the date of acquisition, shall be disclosed separately in the balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts.
   (e) Where the purchase price of such securities is less than the amount repayable at maturity, the amount of the difference may be released to income in instalments over the period remaining until repayment, under the item “Interest receivable and similar income” (item 1 – vertical layout; item B1 – horizontal layout). This difference, which shall be the cumulated proportional value since the date of acquisition, shall be disclosed separately in the balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts.
   (f) If fixed assets are the subject of exceptional value adjustments for taxation purposes alone, the amount of the adjustments and the reasons for making them shall be indicated in the notes to the accounts.

(3) The purchase price shall be calculated by adding to the price paid the expenses incidental thereto.

(4) (a) The production cost shall be calculated by adding to the purchasing price of the raw materials and consumables the costs directly attributable to the product in question.
       (b) A reasonable proportion of the costs which are only indirectly attributable to the product in question may be added into the production costs to the extent that they relate to the period of production.

(5) Interest on capital borrowed to finance the production of fixed assets may be included in the production costs to the extent that it relates to the period of production. In that event, the inclusion of such interest under "Assets" must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts.

Art. 57. Tangible assets, raw materials and consumables which are constantly being replaced and the overall value of which is of secondary importance to the undertaking may be shown under “Assets” at a fixed quantity and value, if the quantity, value and composition thereof do not vary materially.

Art. 58.

(1) All assets not referred to in Article 56(1) shall be valued as current assets.

(2) (a) Current assets must be valued at purchase price or production cost, without prejudice to (b) and (c).
       (b) Value adjustments shall be made in respect of current assets with a view to showing them at the lower market value or, in particular circumstances, another lower value to be attributed to them at the balance sheet date.
       (c) Exceptional value adjustments may be permitted where, on the basis of a reasonable commercial assessment, these are necessary if the valuation of these items is not to be modified in the near future because of fluctuations in value. The amount of these value adjustments must be disclosed separately in the profit and loss account or in the notes to the accounts.
(d) Valuation at the lower value provided for in (b) and (c) may not be continued if the reasons for which the value adjustments were made have ceased to apply.

(e) If current assets are the subject of exceptional value adjustments for taxation purposes alone, the amount of the adjustments and the reasons for making them must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts.

(3) By way of derogation from paragraph (2)(a), credit institutions shall be authorised to show fixed-income securities which are not held as financial fixed assets at the higher market value at the balance sheet date. The difference between the purchase price and the higher market value shall be disclosed in the notes to the accounts.

(4) The definitions of purchase price and of production cost given in Article 56(3) and (4) shall apply. Article 56(5) shall also apply. Distribution costs may not be included in production costs.

Art. 59. The purchase price or production cost of stocks of goods of the same category and all fungible items including investments may be calculated either on the basis of weighted average prices or by the "first in, first out" (FIFO) method, the "last in, first out" (LIFO) method, or some similar method.

Art. 60.

(1) Where the amount repayable on account of any debt is greater than the amount received, the difference may be shown as an asset. It must be shown separately in the balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts.

(2) The amount of this difference must be written off by a reasonable amount each year and completely written off no later than the time of repayment of the debt.

“(Law of 16 March 2006)

Art. 61. Provisions may not exceed in amount the sums which are necessary.”

Art. 62.

(1) Loans and advances to credit institutions and customers (Assets items 3 and 4), leasing transactions (Assets item 5), as well as debt securities, shares and other variable-yield securities included in Assets items 6 and 7 which are neither held as financial fixed assets as defined in Article 56(1) nor included in a trading portfolio may be shown at a value lower than that which would result from the application of Article 58(2) of this law, where that is required by the prudence dictated by the particular risks associated with banking. The difference between the two values must not be more than 4% of the total amount of the assets mentioned above after application of the aforementioned Article 58.

(2) The lower value resulting from the application of paragraph (1) may be maintained until the credit institution decides to adjust it.

Art. 63.

(1) Credit institutions may introduce a Liabilities item 8A entitled “Fund for general banking risks”. That item shall include those amounts which a credit institution decides to put aside to cover such risks where that is required by the particular risks associated with banking.

(2) The increases and decreases of the “Fund for general banking risks” and the income from the partial or total writing back of the fund must be shown separately in the profit and loss account in items entitled “Increases and decreases of the fund for general banking risks” (item 16A in the vertical layout or item A 9A in the horizontal layout) and “Income from the writing back of the amounts in the fund for general banking risks” (item 16B in the vertical layout or B 8A in the horizontal layout).

Art. 64.

(1) Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency shall be translated in the capital currency at the spot rate of exchange ruling on the balance sheet date. It is however permitted to translate assets held as financial fixed assets and tangible and intangible assets, not covered in either the spot or forward markets, in the capital currency at the rates ruling on the dates of their acquisition, without prejudice to the following reserve. If it is expected that the reduction in the value of the currency in which such assets are denominated will be permanent, value adjustments must be made in respect of such items so that they are valued at the lower figure to be attributed to them at the balance sheet date.

(2) Uncompleted spot exchange transactions shall be translated in the capital currency at the spot rates of exchange ruling on the balance sheet date.

Uncompleted forward exchange transactions shall be translated in the capital currency at the forward rates for residual maturity at the balance sheet date.

(3) Without prejudice to Article 43, point (3), the differences between the carrying amounts of the assets, liabilities and forward transactions and the amounts produced by translation in accordance with paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be treated as follows:
(a) For spot items covered in the forward markets and for forward items covered in the spot markets, such differences shall be offset in the prepayments and accrued income/accruals and deferred income without the profit or loss for the financial year being affected.
(b) For not covered spot items, these differences shall be posted to the profit and loss account if they are negative. A positive valuation result may be entered in the profit and loss account.
(c) For not covered futures transactions, these differences shall be posted to the profit and loss account if they are negative. On the other hand, positive valuation results shall be ignored.
(4) If a method specified in Article 76 of this law is used, any translation differences shall be transferred, in whole or in part, directly to prepayments and accrued income/accruals and deferred income. Positive and negative translation differences transferred shall be shown separately in the balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts.

“(Law of 29 May 2009)

Art. 67a.

(1) The nature and business purpose of the arrangements that are not included in the balance sheet and the financial impact on the credit institution of those arrangements must be included, provided that the risks or benefits arising from such arrangements are material and insofar as the disclosure of such risks or benefits is necessary for assessing the financial position of the credit institution.

(2) The transactions which have been entered into with related parties by the credit institution, including the amount of such transactions, the nature of the related party relationship and other information about the transactions necessary for an understanding of the financial position of the credit institution, if such transactions are material and have not been concluded under normal market conditions, must be included. Chapter 12 – Application of the equity accounting method to the annual accounts

Art. 76.

(1) Credit institutions may show the participating interests, as defined in Article 18, in the capital of undertakings over the operating and financial policies on which they exercise a significant influence, in the balance sheet in accordance with paragraphs (2) to (8) below, as sub-items of the items “Participating interests” or “Shares in affiliated undertakings”, as the case may be. The title of the sub-item is “Undertakings accounted for by the equity method”. A company shall be presumed to exercise a significant influence over another undertaking where it has 20% or more of the shareholders’ or members’ voting rights. Article 78 of this law shall apply.

(2) When this Article is applied for the first time to a participating interest covered by paragraph (1), that participating interest shall be shown in the balance sheet either:

(a) at its carrying amount calculated in accordance with the rules set forth “in Chapter 7 or 7a of Part II” of this law. (3) Where the assets or liabilities of an undertaking in which a participating interest within the meaning of paragraph (1) above is held have been valued by methods other than those used by the company drawing up the annual accounts, they may, for the purpose of calculating the difference referred to in paragraph (2)(a) or (b) above, be revalued by the methods used by the company drawing up the annual accounts. (4) The carrying amount referred to in paragraph (2)(a) above, or the amount corresponding to the proportion of equity referred to in paragraph (2)(b) above, shall be increased or reduced by the amount of the variation which has taken place during the financial year in the proportion of equity represented by that participating interest; it shall be reduced by the amount of the dividends relating to the participating interest.

(5) Insofar as a positive difference covered by paragraph (2)(a) or (b) above cannot be related to any category of asset or liability items category, it shall be written off within a maximum period of five years.

(6) The proportion of the profit or loss attributable to the participating interests referred to in paragraph (1) above shall be shown in the profit and loss account only to the extent of the amount corresponding to dividends already received or the payment of which can be claimed. (7) The eliminations referred to in Article 95(1)(d) of this law shall be effected insofar as the facts are known or can be ascertained. Article 95(2) and (3) of this law shall apply.

(8) Where an undertaking in which a participating interest within the meaning of paragraph (1) above is held draws up consolidated accounts, the foregoing paragraphs shall apply to the equity shown in such consolidated accounts.

(b) Such set-off may also be done on the basis of the value of the identifiable assets and liabilities as at the date of acquisition of the shares or, in the event of acquisition in two or more stages, as at the date on which the undertaking became a subsidiary.

(c) Any difference remaining after the application of (a) or resulting from the application of (b) shall be shown as a separate item in the consolidated balance sheet with the heading “The difference on first consolidation”. This item shall appear between Assets items 10 (Intangible assets) and 11 (Tangible assets) and between Liabilities items 12 (Revaluation reserve) and 13 (Profit or loss brought forward) of the layout as defined in Article 7 of this law. That item, the methods used and any significant changes in relation to the preceding financial year must be explained in the notes to the accounts. The positive and negative differences may be offset, provided that a breakdown thereof is given in the notes to the accounts.

(2) However, paragraph (1) shall not apply to shares in the capital of the parent undertaking held either by that undertaking itself or by another undertaking included in the consolidation. In the consolidated accounts, such shares shall be treated as own shares in accordance with this law.

Art. 89.

(1) Instead of the method described in Article 88, consolidating companies may carry out offsetting between the carrying amounts of the shares in an undertaking included in the consolidation and the corresponding percentage of the capital of that single undertaking, provided that:

(a) the shares held represent at least 90% of the nominal value or, in the absence of nominal value, of the accounting par value, of the shares of that undertaking other than shares conferring a limited right of participation in dividend distributions or shares of the corporate assets in the event of liquidation;

(b) the proportion referred to in (a) above has been attained pursuant to an arrangement providing for the issue of shares by an undertaking included in the consolidation; and

(c) the arrangement referred to in (b) above did not include a cash payment exceeding 10% of the nominal value or, in the absence of a nominal value, of the accounting par value of the shares issued.

(2) Any difference arising under paragraph (1) shall be added to or deducted from consolidated reserves as appropriate.

(3) The application of the method described in paragraph (1), the resulting movement in the reserves and the names and registered offices of the undertakings concerned shall be disclosed in the notes to the accounts.

Art. 90. The amount attributable to shares in subsidiary undertakings included in the consolidation held by persons other than the undertakings included in the consolidation shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet as a separate item titled “Minority interests”. This item shall appear after the item “The differences on first consolidation” as defined in Article 88.

Art. 91. The income and expenditure of undertakings included in a consolidation shall be incorporated in full in the consolidated profit and loss account.

Art. 92. The amount of any profit or loss attributable to shares in subsidiary undertakings included in the consolidation held by persons other than the undertakings included in the consolidation shall be shown in the consolidated profit and loss account as a separate item titled “Minority interests’ share”. Art. 94.

(1) The methods of consolidation must be applied consistently from one financial year to another.

(2) Derogations from the provisions of paragraph (1) shall be permitted in exceptional cases. Any such derogations must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts and the reasons for them given together with an assessment of their effect on the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss of the undertakings included in the consolidation taken as a whole.

Art. 95.

(1) Consolidated accounts shall show the assets, liabilities, financial positions and profits or losses of the undertakings included in a consolidation as if the latter were a single undertaking. In particular:

(a) debts and claims between the undertakings included in a consolidation shall be eliminated from the consolidated accounts;

(b) reciprocal rights and commitments relating to the off-balance-sheet accounts shall also be eliminated;

(c) income and expenditure relating to transactions between the undertakings included in a consolidation shall be eliminated from the consolidated accounts;

(d) where profits and losses resulting from transactions between the undertakings included in a consolidation are included in the carrying amounts of assets, they shall be eliminated from the consolidated accounts.

Such eliminations may be effected in proportion to the percentage of the capital held by the parent undertaking in each of the subsidiary undertakings included in the consolidation.

(2) Paragraph (1)(d) may be derogated from where a transaction has been concluded according to normal market conditions and where the elimination of the profit or loss would entail undue expense. Any such derogations must be disclosed and where the effect on the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss of the undertakings, included in the consolidation, taken as a whole, is material, that fact must be disclosed in the notes to the consolidated accounts.

(3) Derogations from the provisions of paragraph (1)(a), (b) (c) and (d) shall be permitted where the amounts concerned are not material for the purposes of Article 85(3).

Art. 96.

(1) Consolidated accounts must be drawn up as at the same date as the annual accounts of the parent undertaking.

(2) However, the consolidated accounts may be drawn up as at another date in order to take account of the balance sheet dates of the largest number or the most important of the undertakings included in the consolidation. Where use is made of this derogation that fact shall be disclosed in the notes to the consolidated accounts together with the reasons therefor. In addition, account must be taken or disclosure made of important events concerning the assets and liabilities, the financial position or the profit or loss of an undertaking included in a consolidation which have occurred between that undertaking's balance sheet date and the consolidated balance sheet date.

(3) Where an undertaking’s balance sheet date precedes the consolidated balance sheet date by more than three months, that undertaking shall be consolidated on the basis of interim accounts drawn up as at the consolidated balance sheet date.

Art. 97. If the composition of the undertakings included in a consolidation has changed significantly in the course of a financial year, the consolidated accounts must include information which makes the comparison of successive sets of consolidated accounts meaningful.

Where such a change is a major one, that obligation may be met by the preparation of an adjusted opening balance sheet and an adjusted profit and loss account.

Art. 98.

(1) Assets and liabilities to be included in consolidated accounts shall be valued according to uniform methods and in accordance with “chapters 7 and 7a and Article 99”\(^\text{19}\) of this law.

(2) (a) The undertaking which draws up consolidated accounts must apply the same methods of valuation as in its annual accounts. However other methods of valuation in accordance with the above-mentioned Articles may be applied to the consolidated accounts.

(b) Where use is made of this derogation that fact shall be disclosed in the notes to the consolidated accounts and the reasons therefore given.

\(^19\) Law of 16 March 2006
(3) Where assets and liabilities to be included in consolidated accounts have been valued by undertakings included in the consolidation by methods differing from those used for the consolidation, they must be revalued in accordance with the methods used for the consolidation unless the results of such revaluation are not material for the purposes of Article 85(3). Departures from this principle shall be permitted in exceptional cases. Any such departures shall be disclosed in the notes to the consolidated accounts and the reasons for them given.

(4) Account shall be taken in the consolidated balance sheet and in the consolidated profit and loss account of any difference resulting from the above-mentioned methods of valuation between the tax chargeable for the financial year and for preceding financial years and the amount of tax paid or payable in respect of those years, provided that it is probable that an actual charge to tax will arise within the foreseeable future for one of the undertakings included in the consolidation.

(5) Where assets to be included in consolidated accounts have been the subject of exceptional value adjustments solely for tax purposes, they shall be incorporated in the consolidated accounts only after those adjustments have been eliminated. Such assets may nevertheless be incorporated in the consolidated accounts without the elimination of the adjustments, provided that their amounts, together with the reasons for them, are disclosed in the notes to the consolidated accounts.

Art. 99.

(1) Translation differences arising on consolidation out of the retranslation of an affiliated undertaking’s equity or the share of a participating interest’s equity at the beginning of the accounting period to be included, in whole or in part to an item titled “Translation differences”, together with the translation differences arising on the translation of any transactions undertaken to cover that equity. This item shall appear after the item “Minority interests”, as defined in Article 90.

(2) The income and expenditure of affiliated undertakings and participating interests may be translated on consolidation at the average rates of exchange ruling during the accounting period.

Art. 100.

(1) The positive “Initial consolidation difference” resulting from the application of Article 88(1)(c) shall be written off within a maximum period of five years.

Art. 101. The negative “Initial consolidation difference” resulting from the application of Article 88(1)(c) may be transferred to the consolidated profit and loss account only:

(a) where it corresponds to the expectation at the date of acquisition of unfavourable future results in that undertaking, or to the expectation of costs which that undertaking would incur, insofar as such an expectation materialises; or

(b) insofar as it corresponds to a realised gain.

Art. 102.

(1) Where an undertaking included in a consolidation manages another undertaking jointly with one or more undertakings not included in that consolidation, that undertaking may be included in the consolidated accounts in proportion to the rights in its capital held by the undertaking included in the consolidation.

(2) Articles 83 to 101 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the proportional consolidation referred to in (1).

(3) Where this Article is applied, Article 103 shall not apply if the undertaking proportionally consolidated is an associated undertaking as defined in Article 103.

Art. 103.

(1) Where an undertaking included in a consolidation exercises a significant influence over the operating and financial policy of an undertaking not included in the consolidation (an associated undertaking) in which it holds a participating interest, as defined in Article 18 of this law, that participating interest shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet as a separate item titled “Participating interests accounted for by the equity method”. An undertaking shall be presumed to exercise a significant influence over another undertaking where it has 20% or more of the shareholders' or members' voting rights in that undertaking. Article 78 shall apply.

(2) When this Article is applied for the first time to a participating interest covered by paragraph (1), that participating interest shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet either:

20 Repealed by the law of 16 March 2006
(a) at its carrying amount calculated in accordance with the valuation rules laid down in Part II of this law. The difference between that value and the amount corresponding to the proportion of equity represented by that participating interest shall be disclosed separately in the consolidated balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts. That difference shall be calculated as at the date as at which that method is used for the first time; or

(b) at an amount corresponding to the proportion of the associated undertaking’s equity represented by that participating interest. The difference between that amount and the carrying amount calculated in accordance with the valuation rules laid down in Part II of this law shall be disclosed separately in the consolidated balance sheet or in the notes to the accounts. That difference shall be calculated as at the date as at which that method is used for the first time.

(c) The consolidated balance sheet or the notes to the accounts must indicate whether (a) or (b) has been used. The difference obtained through the application of these two methods shall be shown in an item titled “Equity accounting difference”.

(d) For the application of (a) or (b), the calculation of the difference may take place as at the date of acquisition of the shares or, where they were acquired in two or more stages, as at the date on which the undertaking became an affiliated undertaking.

(3) Where an associated undertaking’s assets or liabilities have been valued by methods other than those used for consolidation in accordance with Article 98(2), they may, for the purpose of calculating the difference referred to in paragraph (2)(a) or (b) above, be revalued by the methods used for consolidation. Where such revaluation has not been carried out that fact must be disclosed in the notes to the accounts.

(4) The carrying amount referred to in paragraph (2)(a), or the amount corresponding to the proportion of the associated undertaking’s equity referred to in paragraph (2)(b), shall be increased or reduced by the amount of any variation which has taken place during the financial year in the proportion of the associated undertaking’s equity represented by that participating interest; it shall be reduced by the amount of the dividends relating to that participating interest.

(5) Insofar as the positive difference referred to in paragraph (2)(a) or (b) cannot be related to any category of assets or liabilities it shall be dealt with in accordance with Articles 100(…)

(6) The proportion of the profit or loss of the associated undertakings attributable to such participating interests shall be shown in the consolidated profit and loss account as a separate item titled “Proportion of the profit/loss of the undertakings accounted for by the equity method”.

(7) The eliminations referred to in Article 95(1)(d) shall be effected insofar as the facts are known or can be ascertained. Article 95(2) and (3) shall apply.

(8) Where an associated undertaking draws up consolidated accounts, the foregoing provisions shall apply to the equity shown in such consolidated accounts.

(9) This Article need not be applied where the participating interest in the capital of the associated undertaking is not material for the purposes of Article 85(3).
